Guard Asa Elsea Selected Most Valuable Grid Player

Asa Elsea, stellar guard and linebacker, was named Circleville High School's most valuable football player for the 1958 season during the Booster Club's annual grid banquet last night.

The banquet, was pot luck dinner, was held at the First EUB Church Service center. The dining area was packed with approximately 270 players, parents, coaches and fans.

The coveted trophy was awarded to Elsea, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Elsea, by Booster President David Crawford. The CHS grid star was selected by a special Booster Club committee which based its choice on attitude on and off the field, sportsmanship, attendance at practice, loyalty and other outstanding characteristics.

His gridiron ability also was singled out last week when he was named to the All-South Central Ohio League team on both offense and defense. He was one of only three loop players to gain this two-way honor.

Elsea is an all-around athlete at CHS, participating in basketball and baseball. However, he leans toward football and hopes to continue his grid career by playing college ball at a yet undetermined school.

A LONG and loud ovation from those present indicated that the Booster Club selection for the trophy was a good one.

Another pleasant announcement came when Coach Tom Bennett informed the group that Dave Smith and Harold Arledge will serve as co-captains for next year's football team. The loud response again indicated that an excellent selection had been made.

Smith was used this year as a which make a solid football player. The hard-hitting guard, a senior and co-captain of this year's squad, gained considerable recognition for his outstanding placekicking and punting ability.

ELSEA notched a place in CHS grid history this season by booting three field goals in six attempts, all of them booming kicks. Two of the goals were deciding factors in Tiger victories.

The serious-minded grider also was an excellent punter, getting the Tigers out of trouble time and again this year with boots which sailed far and true down the field. Without a doubt, football is the first love for Elsea in the sports field. In fact, he likes the game so much that he constructed a goal post at his home and practiced

Law Professor Tackles Riddle

How Can He Help Stubborn Cleric?

CINCINNATI (AP)—A law professor pored over his case books Tuesday night hunting for a key to the riddle of a stubborn minister who prefers to stay in jail.

The minister: The Rev. Maurice F. McCrackin, who won't pay income tax.

The professor: Fred A. Dewey, one of two court-nixed attorneys for the pastor. Dewey is a University of Cincinnati teacher.

Today is the deadline for the minister to free himself of a contempt charge by agreeing to cooperate with U. S. District Court on a tax indictment. He says he'd rather stay in jail.

The attorney is trying to track down what he figures is a flaw in the ruling of Judge John H. Drufel last Monday that sent the Rev. Mr. McCrackin to jail indefinitely.

But the attorney said Tuesday night that so far, "This case is unique as far as I'm concerned."

"I can't find anything like this anywhere—nothing where a defendant has refused to cooperate with anyone at all and has taken the stand that the Rev. Mr. McCrackin takes."

"But as long as I'm acting as his attorney, I'll see that he is not deprived of his legal rights."

Coast Guard officers dismissed as highly improbable that the missing rivets figured in the sinking. It was estimated that 100,000 rivets held the Bradley together.

Cmdr. Mark L. Hocking, officer in charge of the St. Ignace, Mich., inspection office, testified:

"As far as the boiler and engine departments were concerned the Bradley was seaworthy and fit."

The attorney said Tuesday night that the Bradley broke in half last week. Two of her crew were rescued.

A Coast Guard investigation board headed by Rear Adm. Joseph A. Kerrina Tuesday heard testimony from two Coast Guard officers who inspected the Bradley earlier this year.

Lt. Frank M. Sperry said about 1,000 rivets on ballast tanks, inside the cargo hold, were missing or partly eroded. He said he ordered the rivets replaced, but the ship owners planned to have the tanks replated.

"I was satisfied with bolted repairs pending the replacement," Sperry said. The ship was seaworthy, he added.

The 31-year-old limestone carrier was owned and operated by Bradley Transportation Lines of Rogers City, Mich. The company is an affiliate of U.S. Steel Corp.

The investigation will resume in Rogers City on Monday.

The senior grider also gained recognition as a hard-nosed lineman who gave his all every minute of every game. After every game this year, opposing coaches would come to the CHS locker room to single out Elsea for his rugged play.

His gridiron ability also was singled out last week when he was named to the All-South Central Ohio League team on both offense and defense. He was one of only three loop players to gain this two-way honor.

The enjoyable evening of events was conducted by Toastmaster Robert Huffer, local attorney, along with Booster President Crawford. The Invocation was given by Rev. Paul Wachs, pastor of the First Methodist Church.

Coaches Tom Bennett, John Adler, Dick Fisher, Dick Snouffer, John Current and Jack Weikert all spoke on the past season. They introduced players, gave roundups on season highlights and presented annual awards.

Miss Carolyn Vallerie, cheer-leading coach at CHS, introduced her varsity yell makers. They included Linda Emerine, head cheerleader, Sharon Wood, Mary Pennington, Sherry Hull and Phyllis Ulman.

Another highlight was the presentation of awards to Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Emerine and Lawrence (Speeder) Davis. They were awarded plaques for outstanding attendance at CHS football events. Each has over 20 years of perfect attendance at local grid games.

The grand jury is in constant session in Hamilton County. An aide in the prosecutor's office said the Klumpp case could be taken up when the investigation is completed and when a place could be found for it on the docket.

Mrs. Klumpp, a 40-year-old blonde part-time school teacher, is accused of the slaying last Oct. 30 of her lover's estranged wife, Mrs. Martha Louise Bergen, 32. Mrs. Bergen's badly burned body was found Nov. 1 on the shores of Lake Cowan in nearby Clinton County.

Police said Mrs. Klumpp claimed Mrs. Bergen was shot as they grappled for possession of a pistol. However, she admitted setting the body afire. They quoted her as saying she wanted to marry Mrs. Bergen's husband, William, with whom she had been living.

Judge Denning ordered Mrs. Klumpp bound to the grand jury over the strenuous objections of her attorney, William F. Hopkins.

Hopkins claimed the state had failed to prove the slaying occurred in Hamilton County except by quoting statements of Mrs. Klumpp herself.

"It is our contention that you cannot prove venue by the statements of the defendant," Hopkins said. "There is not a scintilla of evidence that anything occurred in this county except Detective Wilbert Staggenhast's testimony as to what the defendant said."

"The state has failed to show that anything occurred in Hamilton County and nothing occurred in Clinton County except that a body was found.

"I know this girl must be tried but I want to be absolutely sure she is tried in the proper county."

City Prosecutor Robert Paul contended that statements made by Mrs. Klumpp could be used against her.

Hopkins related that there are statutes which permit trial in either county in such a case as this, but he declared they had been held unconstitutional by higher courts.

Mrs. Klumpp, dressed in a white blouse and black skirt, sat poker-faced among a group of defendants in other cases for approximately half an hour before her case was called.

But there is some doubt if Dewey and attorney Theodore M. Berry are actually the minister's attorneys.

The Rev. Mr. McCrackin has headed none of their counsel and considers them friends of the court, but not his spokesmen.

'Boss Ket' Is Dead, but His Spirit To Linger For Ages

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Charles F. Kettering is dead. But if you drove your car today, you'll know he's still around in spirit. When that starter whined and turned over the motor, that was "Boss Ket" giving you a helping hand.

The 82-year-old inventor, who died in his home here Tuesday of a stroke, amassed a fortune through his genius in the automotive and other fields.

He was mostly widely acclaimed for his perfection of the self-starter in automobiles. But the 140 patents he held, on his own inventions and improvements on the inventions of others, helped revolutionize a dozen industries.

He was classified a boy wonder in his heyday—a second Thomas Edison.

When electric cash registers ring up sales throughout the world today, they'll be ringing in tribute to Kettering. He invented them.

And if you don't notice a knock in your car motor, you can thank him for that too. He had a hand in developing anti-knock gasoline.

The baby incubators that give many a tiny infant a push down the road of life; the refrigeration unit that keeps your food from spoiling; the pilotless airplane, aerial torpedo, diesel locomotives, accounting machines—Kettering helped develop all of these.

He lapsed into a coma from which he never emerged after suffering the second stroke in two days.

Kettering's only son, Eugene, of Hinsdale, Ill., was with him when Judge Denning ordered Mrs. Klumpp bound to the grand jury over the strenuous objections of her attorney, William F. Hopkins.

3 Meetings In Few Days Eyed by Dems

Politicos Say Talks To Tell How Wind Blows in Statehouse

By REED SMITH

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The next ten days may determine how the political winds blow when Democrats take over control of the Statehouse.

Politicos tag three meetings during that period as possible weather vanes for the administration of Michael V. DiSalle, who succeeds GOP Gov. C. William O'Neill on Jan. 12.

First is a meeting in Cleveland Friday of Democratic state senators to pick their floor leader for the legislative session starting Jan. 5.

Word got around that DiSalle favored a fellow Toledoan, Sen. Frank W. King, for majority leader over Sen. Charles J. Carney, union official of Youngstown. But Carney said he would make a fight of it and sought backing from the big Cleveland delegation.

Some saw the hurry-up Cleveland meeting as a move to forestall efforts in King's behalf at a gathering of party leaders with DiSalle in Toledo next Tuesday to discuss patronage and other administration matters.

Those meetings could set the stage for a caucus of House Democrats in Columbus Dec. 5 to pick a speaker, majority leader and other officers.

State Democratic headquarters and other party sources indicated that the governor-elect preferred Rep. James A. Lantz of Lancaster for House speaker over Rep. James J. McGetrick of Cleveland, minority leader in past sessions.

Members of big Cuyahoga County delegations usually have been party leaders in one or both houses of the Legislature. Use of the unit rule, binding all members of the delegations to vote as the majority determines, gives Cuyahoga delegations a major voice in selections.

That county has 18 of 78 Democratic house members in the next Legislature. In the Senate, six of the 20 Democrats are from Cuyahoga County. Mahoning County has two Democratic senators and three representatives.

House Republicans, who number 61, already have picked Rep. Roger Cloud of Bellefontaine, for minority leader. He was speaker in the last two sessions. Senate Republicans are expected to name Sen. C. Stanley Mecham of Athens, former president pro-temp, as leader of their 13-member minority.

Friends may call in the Mader Funeral Home after 7 p. m. tonight. Rosary will be recited at 8 p. m. tonight.

Two Ashville Men Enlist in Army

Two Ashville men were accepted Monday for service with the United States Army, it was announced yesterday by SFC William Crothers, U. S. Army recruiters.

Accepted were Fred R. Bandy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Bandy, and Loy R. LeMaster, son of Mrs. Tillie LeMaster.

Both men enlisted for three years in the Signal Corps. They are two-year veterans of the U. S. Marine Corps. The Ashville High School graduates entered the Army as privates.

Sgt. Crothers stated that Don Medich, Renick Ave., enlisted several days ago. He will be assigned to his research division to make the survey.

Bowers would like to remain as commissioner in the DiSalle administration. He has been with the department 25 years. His appointment by former Democratic Gov. Frank J. Lausche expires next February.

The State Highway Patrol filed a first degree murder charge at Wilmington and Cincinnati police followed with their charge, filed here. The Ohio Criminal Code allows prosecution in either county under conditions of this case.

Officers said Mrs. Klumpp, who had been living with Mrs. Bergen's estranged husband told them Mrs. Bergen was shot in the throat accidentally in a struggle over a gun after the two discussed the chances of Mrs. Bergen obtaining a divorce. This occurred in Hamilton County, she said.

Mrs. Klumpp told officers she had put the body in the trunk of her car, taught a sewing class that night, and next day drove to Lake Cowan where she burned the body with gasoline.

Dr. Frank Cleveland, county pathologist, reported after his first autopsy he found two skull fractures and that Mrs. Bergen may have been alive when burned. A second examination revealed traces of metal in the throat and carbon monoxide in the blood. He said this may have come from exhaust fumes of the Klumpp auto.

Police said Mrs. Klumpp told them she wanted to marry Bergen, a grocery chain employee, if Mrs. Bergen would agree to a divorce. Investigators said lie detector tests satisfied them Bergen had no part in his wife's death.

Deaths

NEIL MATZ

Funeral services for Mr. Neil Matz, 32, who died Sunday in Milwaukee, will be held at 1 p. m. Friday in the Trinity Lutheran Church.

Burial will be in Reber Hill Cemetery instead of Forest Cemetery as previously announced.

Teays Valley Board Sets Policy Rules

The Teays Valley Board of Education Monday night in regular session made two policy decisions one regarding teachers and one on raffles.

The board ruled that raffling and gambling of any kind, by students would not be allowed starting with the fall term of 1959. This ruling doesn't include Parent Teachers Assn. or granges because these organizations are not under the board's jurisdiction.

The board voted to permit teachers to attend one day of departmental convention or conferences. This is in exclusion of the county teachers meeting or a meet of the Central Ohio Teachers Assn.

The board approved the junior high basketball schedule. It was decided that the roof of the Scioto Twp. main building would be temporarily patched until next summer.

ED BORDEN, manager of the local Culligan Soft Water Service, appeared before the board with an explanation of the Scioto Twp. hard water problem.

The water is 25 grains hard, which is causing difficulty with the valves and piping. The Winona Canning Co. has offered use of a water meter in an effort to determine amount of water used at the school. This will spell out what size water softener is needed.

A fire bell was installed at Duvall and an extinguisher was placed in the cafeteria. Machinery has been purchased for the Walnut manual arts department.

The board also purchased a deep freeze for the Ashville cafeteria. Additional seats have been ordered for the Duvall school as well as plans for partitioning the auditorium for another classroom.

3 Meetings In Few Days Eyed by Dems

Politicos Say Talks To Tell How Wind Blows in Statehouse

By REED SMITH

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The next ten days may determine how the political winds blow when Democrats take over control of the Statehouse.

Politicos tag three meetings during that period as possible weather vanes for the administration of Michael V. DiSalle, who succeeds GOP Gov. C. William O'Neill on Jan. 12.

First is a meeting in Cleveland Friday of Democratic state senators to pick their floor leader for the legislative session starting Jan. 5.

Word got around that DiSalle favored a fellow Toledoan, Sen. Frank W. King, for majority leader over Sen. Charles J. Carney, union official of Youngstown. But Carney said he would make a fight of it and sought backing from the big Cleveland delegation.

Some saw the hurry-up Cleveland meeting as a move to forestall efforts in King's behalf at a gathering of party leaders with DiSalle in Toledo next Tuesday to discuss patronage and other administration matters.

Those meetings could set the stage for a caucus of House Democrats in Columbus Dec. 5 to pick a speaker, majority leader and other officers.

State Democratic headquarters and other party sources indicated that the governor-elect preferred Rep. James A. Lantz of Lancaster for House speaker over Rep. James J. McGetrick of Cleveland, minority leader in past sessions.

Members of big Cuyahoga County delegations usually have been party leaders in one or both houses of the Legislature. Use of the unit rule, binding all members of the delegations to vote as the majority determines, gives Cuyahoga delegations a major voice in selections.

That county has 18 of 78 Democratic house members in the next Legislature. In the Senate, six of the 20 Democrats are from Cuyahoga County. Mahoning County has two Democratic senators and three representatives.

House Republicans, who number 61, already have picked Rep. Robert Cloud of Bellefontaine, for minority leader. He was speaker in the last two sessions. Senate Republicans are expected to name Sen. C. Stanley Mecham of Athens, former president pro-temp, as leader of their 13-member minority.

Edmund F. Kerchner E dmund F. Kerchner, 76, 165 W. Main St., died at 1:30 p. m. Tuesday following a short illness.

U.S. Business Can Give Plenty Of Thanks Now

Remember How Much Better Things Are Compared to Past

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—You can find plenty to be thankful for Thursday if you try.

Look over the business scene and just for one day at least put aside worries about the queasy stock market, the disturbing world trouble spots, the high cost of living (and the fears it may go higher later on), burdensome taxes (and the threat that they may go higher still), and the hard core of unemployment.

Just remember how much better a lot of things look today than a few months back.

The turkey on your Thanksgiving table costs a little less this year than last. And the government says food prices may ease enough for awhile to keep its cost of living index on the same even keel it has held since July.

Fears of further inflation, especially of the runaway kind, are easing a bit now, too.

They are based largely on expectations of continuing federal deficits and of still more twists in the wage-price spiral. But Washington now tells us that rising tax collections next year and the government's new determination to hold down spending should keep the coming year's deficit lower than first feared.

Business earnings are picking up. They're not back to where they were last Thanksgiving, but they're healthier than they were last Easter. If profits continue to improve, it will make the stocks you hold look safer and the returns on them as good or better.

Corporations have learned cost paring tricks that partly offset rising wage scales. This can hold down prices or steady profits or both.

Deer Shooting Case Hinges On Definition

PRESTON, Minn. (AP)—Legal action against two men who shot a three-legged pet deer hinged today on the definition of a corral.

The state attorney general's office was asked by legal officers here whether a barbed wire enclosure near where the animal was killed on the opening day of deer season constitutes a corral.

State law prohibits the taking of wildlife within 500 feet of a dwelling or a livestock corral.

The deer, a doe, was shot on the Glen Hahn farm Nov. 8. It had been adopted as a pet when it was a few days old and returned occasionally to the Hahn farm. One of the deer's legs had been lost in a mowing machine accident.

Mrs. Hahn said she and her children were feeding the deer when two hunters, both from the Preston area, approached and said they wanted to shoot the animal. Mrs. Hahn said they knew it was a pet.

The deer bolted toward a hayfield and was later shot.

Hahn signed a complaint charging Garry Ruesink and James Simonson with taking wildlife within 500 feet of a dwelling. The men pleaded innocent. A. H. Langum, justice of the peace with whom the complaint was filed, said it was later learned the distance from the house to the spot of the shooting was slightly more than 500 feet.

The complaint will be changed to read "within 500 feet of a live-stock corral" if the attorney general's office so defines the enclosure, he said.

"This meeting will be the league's initial step in our efforts to get a new utility rate law that will save customers $75,000,000 yearly," Locher said.

"Ohio is the only state favoring utility monopolies with an outdated . . . formula."

The Hundred Years War, which began in 1337, involved England, Scotland, Germany, France and most other European countries. The quarrel was over the price of wool.

Cheese has been a staple food for more than 4,000 years.

Nationalists Report Pair Of Mainland Revolts Fails

TAIPEI (AP)—Nationalist officials today reported two bloody uprisings against the Communists this fall on Red China's mainland opposite Formosa.

They said civilians attacked Red troops in each case in the mistaken belief Chiang Kai-shek's soldiers had landed. Both uprisings were reported to have been brutally suppressed.

Government sources said they showed the people of coastal Fukien and Kwangtung provinces hated the Communists, and would be simulating a retreat.

Red reinforcements rushed to the scene, encircled the village and opened up with machine guns. More than 300 villagers were killed. Most of the others were arrested.

Both Portland, Ore., and Little Rock, Ark., are known as the "City of Roses."

Cornell Teaches Horse Shoeing

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a cheer up. Some population experts figure America will have more than 225 million people by 1975.

That accidents are the leading cause of death in the United States from the age of 1 to 35.

The human brain is a wonderful instrument—it starts working the moment you are born, and never stops until you stand up to make a speech.

If your boy can't make up his mind what he wants to do in life, why not send him to Cornell University? They've got a course there in shoeing horses.

Here's another practical note: At a recent insurance company convention held in the Hollywood Beach Hotel in Florida, this was a seminar topic: "What the man in the street should know about yacht insurance."

Do you really love people? Then

Why cannot those who spend their lives trying to prove their own superiority find little comfort in the joy that comes from a variety of experiences? In the Navy Chaplain service, when a sailor or a Marine needs comfort or wants to pray according to his own faith or seeks counsel, a chaplain does not discriminate against him because of his faith nor does he abuse his confidence by attempting to use his grief or fear to win him over to some other religion. He does what is needed.

Rabbi Joshua Goldberg, captain in the Navy, has played an outstanding role in the development of the chaplain from a sky pilot to a servant of the officers and men in the armed services, without regard to religion, race, color or rank. The chaplain has become the companion of the boys and he has the right to do things to save the mind and the spirit of a man in service, caught in the maelstrom of battle, far from home, far from his

Dear Sir:

We wish to rectify a possible misunderstanding of a previous notice in The Circleville Herald which may have given the impression that the Circleville Drum and Bugle Corps of Post 134, American Legion, has completely disbanded without hope of ever organizing again.

This drum corps, which has appeared both away and here at home for many parades and engagements and has in the past been recognized as a competing corps, will definitely reorganize again at an 8 p.m. meeting Jan. 15, 1959 in the Circleville Memorial Hall.

Just two weeks after the corps appeared in the Halloween parade here, an election was held which unanimously re-elected the following men to their former position—Jim Price, commander; Donald Woodward, Sec. Finance; Clifford Kearns, Music Director; Blenn Mogan, Publicity; and Tom Wells, Supply Sgt.

One week later it was decided that the corps would take a vacation from rehearsals until Jan. 15. This was decided due to the fact that during the holidays the attendance at rehearsal would not warrant the effort. If there is anyone who did not receive a notice to this effect it should be understood that he is to return his uniform and/or all equipment to the supply room or to Tom Wells, Supply Sgt.

Also when we do reorganize again we would welcome any new talent preferably former members or veterans for the purpose of building up a competing drum corps. On behalf of the other members of the corps we wish to sincerely thank those who have been with us the past season.

Jewish Chaplain Honored by All

By George Sokolsky

After reading an enormous mail of unseemly hate and uncivilized bigotry, my wife and I togged ourselves out in our best and went to the Plaza Hotel, here in New York, where a Gold Medal of Merit would be presented by the Jewish War Veterans to Chaplain Joshua Goldberg of the Navy.

Josh, as he is generally known, was born in Russia and studied to be a rabbi. He came to the United States in 1916 in time to volunteer for service in World War I as a soldier. This gave him an opportunity to learn English so that he speaks it, even in sermons, with a soldier's familiarity with earthy terms.

When World War II came around, he volunteered as a chaplain in the Navy and has made that so much of a career that he has achieved considerable distinction and is the first of his faith to be the chaplain in charge of the Third Naval District, which is one of the most important.

The turnout at the party at the Plaza was indeed remarkable, for Navy, Army, and Air Force brass appeared in surprising numbers. The award was presented to Rabbi Goldberg by no less a person than Gen. Omar Bradley and the two principal addressees were delivered by former Secretary of the Navy Charles S. Thomas and Cardinal Spellman just returned from Rome.

There was no hate, no bigotry, no narrowness in that room. There was co-operation, friendship, love of country. Presiding during one phase of the dinner was Maj. Gen. Melvin Krueger of the Marine Corps; during the remainder, Benjamin Kaufman who is a Congressional Medal of Honor holder from World War I.

Cardinal Spellman was very amusing, indeed. Harry Hershfield, the humorist, had been called upon to speak. At one point, he said: "I like a Catholic to be a Catholic; a Jew to be a Jew; a Mohammedan to be a Mohammedan." It was no great shakes of a point, because one is beloved ones.

And it is because Chaplain

Goldberg has served so ardently and continuously, and at such enormous sacrifice in this broad manner, that so many military men came to this dinner, many from a great distance.

His latest achievement is the organization of meetings among the chaplains of the NATO nations forces in association with American Catholic and Protestant chaplains.

The first such conference was held in The Hague and to it came clergymen who carried in their memories traditions of antagonism going far back into history. But none of it appeared at their meetings or in the many social activities in which they engaged. The second meeting was in the United States and the third in Brussels.

This labor has taken its toll, but Chaplain Goldberg remains at his post. Sooner or later, he will be retired for age, but it is to be hoped that he will continue to represent the United States, perhaps with advanced rank, in these international meetings as a symbol of the ideal of unity with differences which is characteristic of our country.

grab a free trip he's better learn the difference between East and South.

Radio Prague promises Czechoslovakia's housing shortage will be solved by 1970. That's a long time in which to live in tents!

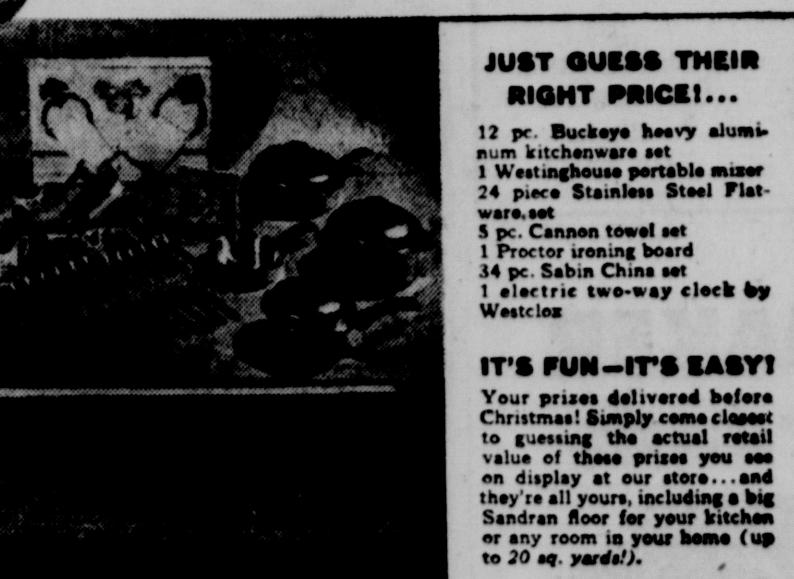

America continues to roll along at an increasing rate. More than two million U.S. citizens now live in auto trailers!

Coughing May Be Useful

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

Get rid of that cough!

A constant hacking cough can wear a person down more quickly than many diseases. Not only does it interfere with your rest, but it irritates respiratory tissues, tires your muscles and generally weakens your resistance to disease-producing germs.

Severe coughing, in some cases, can even produce hemorrhoids. A cough itself, of course, is not a disease. However, it may be a symptom of one. Coughing, for example, might indicate tuberculosis, or coughing with prolonged hoarseness sometimes indicates cancer.

In most cases, coughing should be halted. Ordinarily, this is a relatively easy procedure for your doctor. That's why you should call him when you develop a serious cough. He'll probably recommend some newer drug which will do the trick quickly.

Generally speaking, a doctor will try to discourage a cough if it is caused by thick, dry secretions in the air passages, allergic conditions, or by air which is too dry.

Coughing is a reflex action by which the body tries to remedy matters itself. If the coughing does help alleviate the trouble, your doctor probably will not want to stop it, at least not immediately.

We even have machines at our disposal for special cases in which we want the patient to cough. One of them, which operates something like a vacuum cleaner, may even produce a more effective cough than the body could produce alone.

Question and Answer

D. B.: I have what the doctors diagnose as "tennis elbow." They have treated it with shots of cortisone but it did not help.

Do you know of any cures for this ailment?

Answer: "Tennis Elbow" is an inflammation of the tendons and ligaments around the elbow due to a strain or sprain. Proper physical therapy is usually helpful and injections of hydrocortisone are often curative.

Women's Club Files Complaint with PUCO

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Utilities Commission today recognized a complaint of the Oberlin Junior Women's Club about nine New York Central Railroad crossings at Oberlin.

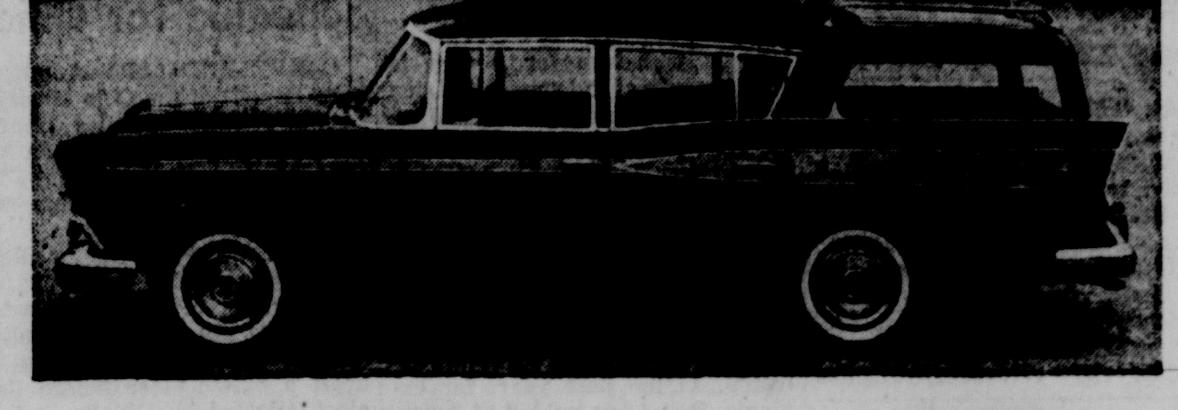

The complaint says the crossings are dangerous and cause damage to vehicles because they are unmarked and ill-kept. The club, which took up the matter with Oberlin's City Council, wants crossing sidewalks repaired, and weeds cut where necessary. The council passed the complaint on to the commission.

Cornell Teaches Horse Shoeing

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

That accidents are the leading cause of death in the United States from the age of 1 to 35.

The human brain is a wonderful instrument—it starts working the moment you are born, and never stops until you stand up to make a speech.

If your boy can't make up his mind what he wants to do in life, why not send him to Cornell University? They've got a course there in shoeing horses.

Here's another practical note: At a recent insurance company convention held in the Hollywood Beach Hotel in Florida, this was a seminar topic: "What the man in the street should know about yacht insurance."

Do you really love people? Then cheer up. Some population experts figure America will have more than 225 million people by 1975.

If your wife uses mascara, she is following an old superstition.

According to Grace Downs, head of a beauty and modeling school, a circle of mascara in ancient times was believed to ward off the "evil eye."

The International Business Machines Corp. is looking for employees experienced in "analog and digital conversion, digital to code conversion, theodolite tracking, radar tracking and electrical transducers." Does anybody remember when all you needed to find work was character and a strong back?

Now that the whooping crane has been saved, naturalists are worried about the prairie dog. They fear it is ticketed for extinction.

After reading an enormous mail of unseemly hate and uncivilized bigotry, my wife and I took ourselves out in our best and went to the Plaza Hotel, here in New York, where a Gold Medal of Merit would be presented by the Jewish War Veterans to Chaplain Joshua Goldberg of the Navy.

The turnout at the party at the Plaza was indeed remarkable, for Navy, Army, and Air Force brass appeared in surprising numbers. The award was presented to Rabbi Goldberg by no less a person than Gen. Omar Bradley and the two principal addresses were delivered by former Secretary of the Navy Charles S. Thomas and Cardinal Spellman just returned from Rome.

There was no hate, no bigotry, no narrowness in that room. There was co-operation, friendship, love of country. Presiding during one phase of the dinner was Maj. Gen. Melvin Krueger of the Marine Corps; during the remainder, Benjamin Kaufman who is a Congressional Medal of Honor holder from World War I.

what one is and the audience let it pass.

But when Cardinal Spellman arose, he repeated what Harry had said and added, "I would like to say a few words for the Protestants."

The audience realized that Harry had been topped and everyone was pleased.

Why cannot those who spend their lives trying to prove their own superiority find little comfort in the joy that comes from a variety of experiences?

In the Navy Chaplain service, when a sailor or a Marine needs comfort or wants to pray according to his own faith or seeks counsel,

a chaplain does not discriminate against him because of his faith

nor does he abuse his confidence by attempting to use his grief or fear to win him over to some other religion. He does what is needed.

Rabbi Joshua Goldberg, captain in the Navy, has played an outstanding role in the development of the chaplain from a sky pilot to a servant of the officers and men in the armed services, without regard to religion, race, color or rank. The chaplain has become the companion of the boys and he has the right to do things to save the mind and the spirit of a man in service, caught in the maelstrom of battle, far from home, far from his home.

Humans, he indicates, adjust themselves happily from a cool climate to a tropical one. Like visiting Florida in January, for instance?

London Fog Has No Equal, Nixon Advised

LONDON (AP)—Richard Nixon needn't think they laid that fog on today just for him. In this country there is fog enough for all, and they are free with it.

By British standards, the murk that kept the vice president from landing at the London airport was nothing. People could see each other.

When the United Kingdom really socks in, the sparrows creep.

It was nice of Mr. and Mrs. Nixon to say they have seen plenty of fog in Los Angeles, too. But that's amateur fog. For the real thing, London is an old pro.

They had a five-day pea-souper at the end of December in 1953 that astounded even the Londoners. It not only halted all air travel but blanketed out all travel by roads.

In some parts of the city it was so bad residents were afraid to go shopping for food. The brave ones found their way around by memory and by counting the curbs they fell off of at street crossings.

It is the truth that London buses move in fog so bad the conductor has to get off and lead the way, walking, with a flashlight.

During the big pea-souper five years ago a conductor re-entered the bus soaking wet and said cheerfully: "End of the line folks. We've gone for a burton (dive) in the yacht basin."

Fog? That stuff in Los Angeles is just a light haze, R. Nixon, and you won't make any friends here comparing it to the real stuff.

Londoners are as proud of their fog as they are of the royal family, and don't you forget it.

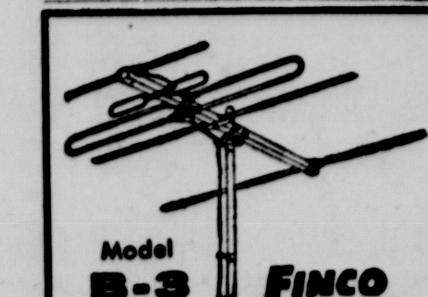

Navy Jet Seaplane Production Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy has cut its jet seaplane program, and probably because of its interest in nuclear-powered sea-planes.

The Navy had ordered 24 jet seaplanes—Seamasters—from the Martin Co. of Baltimore, Md. Martin has delivered six. Eight more will be completed. After that, the Navy announced, the program will end 10 short of the order.

The first two Seamasters crashed in flight. The Navy, known to be working on a seaplane powered by nuclear reactors, gave no specific reason for ending the program.

The Martin Co. announced it would lay off 6,000 employees soon because of the cutback.

London Fog Has No Equal, Nixon Advised

LONDON (AP)—Richard Nixon doesn't think they laid that fog on today just for him. In this country there is fog enough for all, and they are free with it.

By British standards, the murk that kept the vice president from landing at the London airport was nothing. People could see each other.

When the United Kingdom really socks in, the sparrows creep.

It was nice of Mr. and Mrs. Nixon to say they have seen plenty of fog in Los Angeles, too. But that's amateur fog. For the real thing, London is an old pro.

They had a five-day pea-souper at the end of December in 1953 that astounded even the Londoners. It not only halted all air travel but blanketed out all travel by roads.

In some parts of the city it was so bad residents were afraid to go shopping for food. The brave ones found their way around by memory and by counting the curbs they fell off of at street crossings.

It is the truth that London buses move in fog so bad the conductor has to get off and lead the way, walking, with a flashlight.

During the big pea-souper five years ago a conductor re-entered the bus soaking wet and said cheerfully: "End of the line folks. We've gone for a burton (dive) in the yacht basin."

Fog? That stuff in Los Angeles is just a light haze, R. Nixon, and you won't make any friends here comparing it to the real stuff.

Londoners are as proud of their fog as they are of the royal family, and don't you forget it.

Navy Jet Seaplane Production Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy has cut its jet seaplane program, and possibly because of its interest in nuclear-powered seaplanes.

The Navy had ordered 24 jet seaplanes—Seamasters—from the Martin Co. of Baltimore, Md. Martin has delivered six. Eight more will be completed. After that, the Navy announced, the program will end, 10 short of the order.

The first two Seamasters crashed in flight. The Navy, known to be working on a seaplane powered by nuclear reactors, gave no specific reason for ending the program.

The Martin Co. announced it would lay off 6,000 employees soon because of the cutback.

FESTIVE FARMHOUSE — The farmhouse is the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Stevenson, Goose Pond Pike. When this gracious country home was built in the early 1900's, timber was taken from the farm itself to fashion the woodwork. The skill of the builders is nowhere more apparent than in the massive dining room, which will be the focal point for the Christmas Caravan tour, which is sponsored by the Women's Assn. of the Presbyterian Church to be held on Wednesday, December 3. The home will feature a wassail bowl for the guests.

Paralyzed Campanella Tells What He Is Thankful for

GLEN COVE, N.Y. (AP)—Paralyzed Roy Campanella, facing the prospect of spending the remainder of his life in a wheelchair, called himself a lucky man today and said he had many things to be thankful for.

The former star catcher of baseball, who has slimmed down from 215 to 185 pounds after his long siege in the hospital as a result of his tragic automobile accident nearly 10 months ago, is back home.

Last Thanksgiving, robust and spry, he was eagerly looking forward to his move to Los Angeles with the Brooklyn Dodgers. Now, he puts in painful hours each day trying to rebuild his muscles in the hope that someday he may be able just to walk again.

Campy admits that day may never come but he hasn't lost hope.

Pickerington Laces The Broncs, 81-46

Pickerington laid it on the Ashville Broncos last night on the Fairfield Countians court, 81-46.

Pickerington, probably one of the most well-balanced clubs ever to face Russ Gregg's charges, hit from all over the court, sinking 29 of 59 from the floor for 49 per cent.

Although tromping the Broncs, Pickerington was outshot from the court 20 times, as Ashville attempted 79 field goals, making 21 for a poor 26 per cent.

Pickerington jumped to an 18-10 first quarter lead, but exploded late in the second quarter to take a 41-21 halftime lead. Continuing its hot streak, Pickerington notched 30 points in the third quarter to lead 71-29 at the third quarter mark.

ASHVILLE couldn't hit from the free throw line, scoring only four erington outside, but jump shots of 24 attempts. Ashville kept Pick caused the damage. Even Ison, Pickerington's pivot man, pulled out to the center of the floor and fired most of the jump shots.

Bobby Hoover led scoring for the evening with 19 points from around the bucket, followed by Pickerington's Ison with 17. Ison's teammates Strome and Gibson accumulated 14 and 12 points respectively, mostly from the outside.

Gregg said his club was behind more than 40 points at one time, but battled all the way, never losing spirit. The Ashville reserves served the night with a 54-41 victory over the Pickerington junior varsity.

Kingston Blasts Clarksburg, 49-29

Kingston's junior high squad captured its third win yesterday afternoon with a 49-29 win over Clarksburg on the Redskin floor.

Harold Albert led the Kingston attack with 21 points. The Redskins fell behind in the first quarter, 8-4. Coach Gary Walsh then instituted a man-to-man defense and Kingston battled from behind to go ahead and take home the victory.

The Redskins led 13-9 at the first quarter, 29-21 at halftime and 45-25 at the third quarter mark. Walsh used 17 players in the contest.

Roger Hammond trailed teammate Albert with 11 points. High man for Clarksburg was Vollmer with 13.

Pro Grid Coach Asks Fans To Tell Him What's Wrong

DETROIT (AP) — A nationwide television audience will get a chance to see the defending world champion Detroit Lions in action Thanksgiving Day, and Coach George Wilson is encouraging comment from the fans.

"If any of them see what's wrong with the Lions this year, I hope they'll let me in on it," said the Lions' head coach.

The Lions, 3-5-1 for the season, meet the Green Bay Packers Thursday in the traditional Thanksgiving Day clash at Briggs Stadium.

Game time is 12 noon, and Detroit is favored. The Packers, who have only one victory in nine games, battled the Lions to a 13-13 tie earlier this year in Green Bay.

and the warm and friendly smile that won so many friends for him is still on his thinned-down face. "I keep telling myself how lucky I've been," he said. "I just keep thanking God I'm alive and I had a house and a family to come back to. Look at poor Mel Ott. He was in an automobile crackup too. He's dead. I'm only partially paralyzed. I said a little prayer for Mel and I sent him a wire but I guess he never got to read it."

Yes, Campy was home and he was happy. He no longer was burdened by the neck brace he had worn since last January when he underwent an operation on his broken neck. He is still paralyzed from the chest down, however, and he has to be lifted from his bed into the wheel chair. He has to be dressed and undressed. He is constantly attended by a male nurse. He needs an appliance on his hand to feed himself, to lift objects, to sign his name. He still has no movement in his fingers.

"Yes, I've got so many things to be thankful for," he said. "I'm thankful no member of my family was with me at the time of the accident. I'm thankful I've got all my sense. I'm thankful just to be home, surrounded by my family."

As Camp was talking, he kept caressing his 5-year-old daughter Princess, who was sitting on his lap, squealing delightedly while manipulating the battery-operated wheel chair for her daddy. Roy Jr., 10, and Tony, 8, two others of Campanella's six children, were running from room to room, playing a game of tag. Roy's wife Ruthe was busily engaged in the kitchen helping her mother prepare for the Thanksgiving holiday.

Roy's eyes glistened as he watched the activity. "Look at the kids," he exclaimed. "They're not worried about me being in the wheel chair. 'Daddy's home.' That's all they care about. I have trouble keeping them out of the wheel chair. When I'm in bed, they're all in there with me. I've got no time to tuck with them around."

As Camp spoke he kept flexing his wrists, flailing his withered arms across his body, and raising them over his head. He kept pivoting his shoulders in quarter turns.

"I got to keep doing that to prevent a tightness of the muscles," he explained. "I still have no feeling in my legs but I know my insides are all right and I feel strong."

"It's a new life for me. I'm starting all over again. You learn to put up with a lot of things you'd ordinarily gripe about. Sometimes I wonder how long this might go on. But I get such thoughts out of my head quickly. You got to keep thinking good thoughts. Otherwise you could go nutty."

Roy's voice is vibrant now as it was before the accident. Except for his arms, which are painfully thin, he looks robust enough. He visits the Institute for Physical Rehabilitation three days a week and spends five hours a day lifting weights and exercising his muscles.

Roy intends to make his first visit since the accident to the liquor store he owns in Harlem. He also does a taped-radio show once a week and he "writes" a column for a weekly newspaper.

"I may have to live with this all my life," he said. "But I got to make myself believe otherwise. I got to think it will all come back. Maybe I'm fooling myself but I got to keep fighting and praying. And I know someday, with God's help, I will walk again."

Rick Ferrell, director of minor league players for the Detroit Tigers, has been in baseball since 1926. He formerly caught for the Tigers.

Omaha, owned and bred by William Woodward's Belair Stud, duplicated his sire, Gallant Fox, by winning racing's triple crown.

Many Jets To Participate In Winter Baseball Program

When the Columbus Jets begin spring training next March at Jacksonville Beach, Fla., it will be readily apparent that some of the athletes are in superior condition. Others, such as catcher Dick Rand and right-hander Bob Kelley, will be working the "kinks" out after a winter of baseball inactivity.

Responsible for this superior early-spring conditioning are the winter leagues, currently in full-swing south of the border down Mexico way and parts thereabouts.

In addition to those on the Jet roster checking in at Jacksonville Beach, a few outstanding prospects on the Pittsburgh roster expected to come north with the Jets, will begin spring training with a season of winter ball under their belts.

Third baseman Leo Rodriguez and veteran second sacker Spook Jacobs, who could once again comprise half of Columbus' regular infield in 1959, are both playing in the winter leagues. The former is playing in the Mexican League, while Spook is with Havana in the Cuban circuit.

RODRIGUEZ batted .276 in 135 games for the Jets last season. Jacobs came on strong at the finish to wind up with a .292 average in 150 games.

Ken Hamlin, currently on the Pirate roster, is with the Aguillas Cibaenas club in the Dominican Republic. In all likelihood, he will be back at shortstop next season. The youngster, acquired from Mexico City late in the season, hit .265 in 34 games and sparked the club into the playoffs.

The aforementioned Rand is spending the winter at his home near Gettysburg, Pa. He was a .275 hitter in 126 games for the Jets Reserve catcher Bill Onuska, whose home is in Bridgeport, Conn., is also spending the winter away from baseball.

R. C. Stevens, who could be the Jets' regular first baseman in 1959, is at his home in Moultrie, Ga. A right-handed hitter, he spent last season with Pittsburgh and Salt Lake City, after hitting .294 in 59 games for the 1957 Jets.

Cincinnati, Miami Set for Big Battle

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati and Miami of Ohio renew their long football rivalry here Thursday and the odds on the outcome seem to be about even.

Miami won the Mid-American Conference championship again this season, but Cincinnati has developed this year into a power in the Missouri Valley Conference.

Miami will be shooting for its fourth straight victory in this old Thanksgiving Day series that started in 1888.

Scioto Opens With Win over Liberty Union

Scioto opened its basketball season with a sound 62-50 decision over invading Liberty Union last night.

Both teams were off to a slow start with Liberty Union getting seven points and Scioto only three in the first quarter. However, Coach Joe Corbett's Buffaloes suddenly found the range in the second canto to go ahead, 25-23, at halftime.

The Scioto crew's best effort came in the third period when they pulled away to a commanding 44-33 advantage. The winners came back with 18 more points in the final frame, while holding Liberty Union to 17.

Little Dickie Melvin led the way for Scioto, swishing the nets for 27 points on nine buckets and nine foul shots. Ernie Milburn blasted away for 12 and Terry Little came through with 10.

MILBURN, Little and Jim Seckel starred as rebounders for the Buffaloes. Milburn grabbed 26 and Little had 22. Little, along with Melvin, are co-captains for Scioto this year.

Melvin's scoring spree came mostly on shots from outside and quick drive-ins. He played part of the final quarter with four personals.

Ditwiler and Kellner were high for Liberty Union, each putting 14 points. Both were hitting from the side and one drive-ins.

Liberty Union gained a split for the evening by taking the reserve contest, 41-22.

ASHVILLE couldn't hit from the free throw line, scoring only four from around the bucket, followed by Pickerington's Ison with 17. Ison's teammates Strome and Gibson accumulated 14 and 12 points respectively, mostly from the outside.

Rice End Named Lineman of Week

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Buddy Dial, the swift, tackling Rice end, won't be making a return visit to the Cotton Bowl New Year's Day to star as he did in a losing cause against Navy last Jan. 1.

But he'll have the consolation of knowing he was picked as Lineman of the Week today by The Associated Press for playing his greatest game against this year's host.

Powers is with the Caguas-Guayama club in the Puerto Rican League. Pendleton is spending the winter at his home in New York.

Several other members of the 1957 Jets are also playing winter ball. Right-hander Cholly Naranjo is with Havana, while outfielder Howie Goss and right-hander Benjie Daniels are playing for the Aguillas Cibaenas. First baseman Tony Bartiromo and infielder Gair Allie are with Carta Vieja in the Panamanian League, and outfielder Bill Causion is with the Valencia club in Venezuela.

R. C. Stevens, who could be the Jets' regular first baseman in 1959, is at his home in Moultrie, Ga. A right-handed batter, he spent last season with Pittsburgh and Salt Lake City, after hitting .294 in 59 games for the 1957 Jets.

WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT:

• Whiskey Nose

• Odorous Shoes

• Bedwetting

Q. "Can doctors do anything for whiskey nose?" — B. J.

A. Yes, the condition can be greatly improved by proper treatment. The term "Whiskey nose" is misleading because many sufferers are strict abstainers from alcoholic drinks. Mild cases can sometimes be helped by skin planing. Plastic surgery with removal of excess tissue is required if the nose is markedly disfigured.

Q. What can be done to prevent or remove perspiration odor in shoes?

A. There is no really satisfactory method of deodorizing leather once unpleasant odor has developed. However, unpleasant odor can usually be prevented by daily foot care. The feet should be thoroughly washed and dried. Use of a foot deodorant also helps.

Q. Please discuss bedwetting.

A. Bladder control requires voluntary and involuntary actions. When the bladder reaches a certain fullness the retaining muscular valve automatically relaxes.

Even Newer from Behind the Wheel!

Odds are you've seen the new 1959 Cadillac by now—perhaps sweeping regally past you on the boulevard . . . perhaps making its majestic arrival at a fine club or hotel.

And odds are, too, that you've wondered if this 1959 "car of cars" could be as superlative in performance as it is in appearance.

Well, once you've found out for yourself, we think the truth will very likely amaze you. For this Cadillac is even newer from behind the wheel!

You will sense it, in fact, the moment you hear the whisper-quiet response of its great new engine.

And your sentiment will grow to conviction as you discover the other wonders of Cadillac's new performance . . . responsiveness so immediate and so silken in every driving range that it is difficult to believe.

. . . handling ease so remarkable that you follow the curves and corners with the lightest imaginable movement of hand and wheel

. . . a quality of ride so smooth and level and quiet that even the byways travel like boulevards.

Indeed, the evidence will be overwhelming—a journey at its wheel is the world's most glorious interval between start and stop.

And the proof of all this is no farther away than your nearest authorized Cadillac dealer.

He'll be delighted to make you his guest—to explain the virtues of each of Cadillac's thirteen new Fleetwood-crafted models, including the fabulous new Eldorado Brougham—and to let you take the wheel for yourself.

AP Guesspert Picks Army To Sink Navy

Air Force, Notre Dame
Also Given Nod in Weekend Grid Games

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—This is the weekend where you must decide between a drum stick or a dumb pick. Here's the season's final forecast of college football winners:

Army over Navy: Both clubs started the season with great prospects. The Cadets matured while the Middies were stymied by injuries. The season's experience benefits the Army most and gives the Cadets the edge. Anderson and Dawkins to shine. This one you can see for yourself on TV Saturday.

Auburn over Alabama: The Auburn defense is too tough, but on Saturday it won't be anything like that 40-0 walkover of a year ago.

Texas over Texas A&M: You may watch this one Thursday afternoon while digesting your turkey. The Longhorns finish in high gear.

Pittsburgh over Penn State: Both lost to Nebraska, which won only three games all season. The home field gives Pitt the edge. A Thursday contest.

Air Force over Colorado: A fancy victory for the Air Force undoubtedly means a bowl bid. But the Flyer brass will have an anxious Saturday afternoon despite Brock Sturm's stellar play.

Notre Dame over Southern California: That balmy California weather is just what the doctor ordered for George Izzo's pitching arm. Another Saturday game.

Skipping over the others:

THURSDAY

Brown over Colgate, Cincinnati over Miami (Ohio), Colorado State University over Denver, Penn over Cornell, Richmond over William and Mary, South Carolina over Wake Forest, Tulsa over Wichita, Utah over Utah State, Virginia Military over Virginia Tech.

SATURDAY

Arizona State over Marquette, Rice over Baylor, Florida over Miami, Georgia Tech over Georgia, Houston over Texas Tech, Texas Christian over Southern Methodist, Mississippi over Mississippi State, Oklahoma over Oklahoma State, Vanderbilt over Tennessee, George Washington over The Citadel, Clemson over Furman.

Pickaway 4-Hers To Club Congress

National 4-H Club Congress attendance is the goal of any enthusiastic young 4-H club member. At National 4-H Club Congress, the delegates have the opportunity to meet club members from all the states and Hawaii, the chance to learn about themselves and others, and to see many educational exhibits in Chicago.

Nancy Wilson and Roger Schneider will see this dream come true starting Saturday when they board the train in Marion for their trip to the 37th National 4-H Club Congress. Roger and Nancy, as delegates from Pickaway County, will join 29 other Ohio 4-H club members and six chaperones for this memorable trip to Chicago.

Along with numerous luncheons and banquets, the delegates will also visit the Sunday Evening Club, special church services, Museum of Science and Industry, tour the city, concert, Museum of Natural History, International Livestock Exposition, and have several get acquainted social meetings.

Nancy Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Wilson, has been a 4-H club member for eight years. She is attending as the result of being state winner in Citizenship. During this time she has completed 16 projects including some in clothing, gardening, nutrition, child care, personality, electricity, freezing and junior leadership.

Nancy has held all offices in her local 4-H clubs during these eight years. In addition, she has been secretary and treasurer of the county Junior Leadership Club and secretary of the Pickaway County Junior Fair Board. Nancy has given demonstrations in her local clubs each year and this past year she received first in the county contest and participated in the state fair contest. This past year Nancy has been a member of the Happy Diggers 4-H Club whose advisor is Mrs. George Meyers.

MISS WILSON has been a 4-H camp counselor from Pickaway Twp. for several years. She has participated in most 4-H club activities on a county-wide basis. In past years, Nancy has been award-

Integration-Good or Bad for Farmers?

By George Hamrick
County Agent, Agriculture
(Second in a Series)

The decision of whether to become involved in vertical integration requires weighing of your present situation against the agreements offered by the various integrators. Much depends upon the individual farmer's situation as to how advantageous it will be to enter into a contract with an integrating firm.

Some situations where it might be advantageous to become involved in integration are:

1. For the farmer who has the facilities, labor, and "know how" but lacks operating capital.
2. To get started in farming or to expand operations.
3. To transfer some management decisions to experts who may be qualified to make them.
4. To secure supervision of operation if the operator is inexperienced.

5. To transfer risk from the farmer to the integrator who may furnish a large share of the cash outlay of the operation.

6. To stabilize income under contracts which provide for predetermined prices or rates of payment for the functions performed.

7. To improve efficiency through use of better equipment and other resources.

8. To give the farmer opportunities to market his product to advantage.

DISADVANTAGES to vertical integration:

1. The farmer may lose some of his independence which he may value highly.

2. The farmer's ownership of business may be reduced. Ownership frequently is high on the scale of values of many people.

3. If a farmer has been a successful operator in the past he can lose his opportunity to use his special knowledge advantageously.

4. The farmer may lose opportunity to take advantage of price rises. If marketing is included in the contract the producer might have to market on a particular day regardless of price.

5. Rapid increase in vertical integration in an enterprise might result in over-expansion which would depress prices until production adjustments were made.

6. Farmers not entering into an integrated program may be squeezed out by stronger competitors.

from those who integrate.

7. In most contracts a farmer obligates himself for a period of time. This may prevent him from taking advantage of new opportunities or alternatives that arise while the contracts are in effect.

8. The contract can be no better than the management, financial structure and integrity of the organization integrating. The farmer must be informed or he takes the risk of poor performance by the integrator.

Before agreeing to a contract it should be carefully analyzed to see what decisions each party proposes to handle, the risks each agrees to assume and the items of production such as livestock, feed, equipment, etc. each will furnish.

Some questions that the farmer considering entering into an agreement should ask himself are:

1. HOW WILL IT effect the risk I am carrying?

The major risks you are now carrying are: 1. Risk from disease and death loss in case of livestock risk from adverse weather, insects and disease in case of crops. 2. Risk from price drop in what you sell. 3. Risk of price rise in what you buy for production. 4. Risks from changes in technology—obsolescence in equipment, etc.

2. HOW WILL IT affect my control over the enterprise to be controlled by the agreement?

As an independent operator you are now making the following decisions that may in whole or part be taken over by an integrator:

When to sell your products. To whom to sell your products. At what weight to sell. How many and what kind of animals or birds to keep, grow or produce. What feed ration to use and how much. Where to get your feed and what brand to feed. What sanitation practices to use. What equipment to use. What type and how much fertilizer to use. What variety of seed and how much to use. What production practices to use.

3. IN WHAT WAYS will the integrators be better able to make the decisions you might turn over to him than you yourself?

Points to be considered in a contract:

What precautions should be taken by the farmer once he has decided it may be to his advantage to enter into an agreement?

1. Be sure to obtain a written, signed, legally binding contract for a definite period of time.

2. The procedure for determining compensation of all parties involved should be clearly stated and understood.

3. Be sure the contract clearly expresses the responsibilities of the parties before signing. In a recent study in Delaware, both the farmer and the integrators were questioned regarding their responsibilities for decisions. There was considerable difference of opinion on several points as to who was to make the decisions.

The following are some things that should be clearly covered in the agreement:

Who owns the animals when the agreement involves livestock, or poultry and who owns the crop when a crop is under contract? Who pays for services of specialists, such as the veterinarians? Also, who calls the specialists? If an animal dies from disease, accident, fire, lightning, etc., or if crops are damaged by hail, flood, wind and drought, who stands the loss?

If animals or crops must be hauled to the farm and later to the market, who is responsible for trucking costs? Who furnishes and pays for the feed, bedding, fertilizer, seed and sprays? If supplies must be hauled to the farm, who pays the trucking cost? Will you be permitted to feed your own grain, hay, silage or pasture to the animals under agreement and if so, how will you be compensated? When livestock are involved to whom does the manure belong and who is responsible for its removal? Who is responsible for paying the personal property tax and insurance on the animals or crops on hand January 1? Who is responsible for record keeping and for making the decisions on production practices such as how the crop is to be grown, fertilized, etc.; how the feeding is to be done; the disease control and sanitation practices to be followed; the method and time of marketing, etc?

If either of the parties is to be compensated by the other for some indicated. How will the agreement be extended or cancelled and service rendered, the rate and time of payment should be clearly what, if any, penalties will be assessed in the event of cancellation by either party?

BE SURE THE integrator assumes a share of the risk of the outcome of the enterprise, if the integrator takes on the responsibility for decisions that may have a significant effect on the income. If he assumes no responsibility, then you suffer for his mistakes in judgment.

Be sure of the legal soundness of the contract and that it does not contain escape clauses that enable the integrator to cancel the contract, before you invest in plant or equipment that is to be paid out of the proceeds arising during the life of the contract.

Be sure of the extent of the assets and the financial stability of the integrator when he agrees to (a) provide some or all of the items of production such as feed, fertilizer, seed, or animals, or to buy the product produced at a specified price. Large sums of money are needed to fulfill agreements to buy in periods of falling prices and to purchase feed, supplies, or animals on a high and rising market.

Be sure you know what liabilities you may be required to assume for the failure of one or both parties to the contract to carry out their respective responsibilities.

It is well to keep in mind that an integrator is not taking on responsibilities for pleasure but rather because he believes he will profit financially. He may sincerely believe that he can increase the net returns of the farmers who join with him as well as himself. However, his interest is first with him.

Before signing, be sure you know how and to what extent you will be better off if you enter into an integration agreement than if you continue as an independent farmer.

Pickaway 4-Hers To Club Congress

National 4-H Club Congress attendance is the goal of any enthusiastic young 4-H club member. For at National 4-H Club Congress, the delegates have the opportunity to meet club members from all the states and Hawaii, the chance to learn about themselves and others, and to see many educational exhibits in Chicago.

Nancy Wilson and Roger Schneider will see this dream come true starting Saturday when they board the train in Marion for their trip to the 37th National 4-H Club Congress. Roger and Nancy, as delegates from Pickaway County, will join 29 other Ohio 4-H club members and six chaperons for this memorable trip to Chicago.

Along with numerous luncheons and banquets, the delegates will also visit the Sunday Evening Club, special church services, Museum of Science and Industry, tour the city, concert, Museum of Natural History, International Livestock Exposition, and have several get acquainted social meetings.

Nancy Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Wilson, has been a 4-H club member for eight years. She is attending as the result of being state winner in Citizenship. During this time she has completed 16 projects including some in clothing, gardening, nutrition, child care, personality, electricity, freezing and junior leadership.

Nancy has held all offices in her local 4-H clubs during these eight years. In addition, she has been secretary and treasurer of the county Junior Leadership Club and secretary of the Pickaway County Junior Fair Board. Nancy has given demonstrations in her local clubs each year and this past year she received first in the county contest and participated in the state fair contest. This past year Nancy has been a member of the Happy Diggers 4-H Club whose advisor is Mrs. George Meyers.

MISS WILSON has been a 4-H camp counselor from Pickaway Twp. for several years. She has participated in most 4-H club activities on a county-wide basis. In past years, Nancy has been awarded Integration-Good or Bad for Farmers?

By George Hamrick
County Agent, Agriculture
(Second in a Series)

The decision of whether to become involved in vertical integration requires weighing of your present situation against the agreements offered by the various integrators. Much depends upon the individual farmer's situation as to how advantageous it will be to enter into a contract with an integrating firm.

Some situations where it might be advantageous to become involved in integration are:

1. For the farmer who has the facilities, labor, and "know how" but lacks operating capital.
2. To get started in farming or to expand operations.
3. To transfer some management decisions to experts who may be better qualified to make them.
4. To secure supervision of operation if the operator is inexperienced.

5. To transfer risk from the farmer to the integrator who may furnish a large share of the cash outlay of the operation.

6. To stabilize income under contracts which provide for predetermined prices or rates of payment for the functions performed.

7. To improve efficiency through use of better equipment and other resources.

8. To give the farmer opportunities to market his product to advantage.

DISADVANTAGES to vertical integration:

1. The farmer may lose some of his independence which he may value highly.

2. The farmer's ownership of business may be reduced. Ownership frequently is high on the scale of values of many people.

3. If a farmer has been a successful operator in the past he can lose his opportunity to use his special knowledge advantageously.

4. The farmer may lose opportunity to take advantage of price rises. If marketing is included in the contract the producer might have to market on a particular day regardless of price.

5. Rapid increase in vertical integration in an enterprise might result in over-expansion which would depress prices until production adjustments were made.

6. Farmers not entering into an integrated program may be squeezed out by stronger competitors.

tion from those who integrate.

7. In most contracts a farmer obligates himself for a period of time. This may prevent him from taking advantage of new opportunities or alternatives that arise while the contracts are in effect.

8. The contract can be no better than the management, financial structure and integrity of the organization integrating. The farmer must be informed or he takes the risk of poor performance by the integrator.

Before agreeing to a contract it should be carefully analyzed to see what decisions each party proposes to handle, the risks each agrees to assume and the items of production such as live-stock, feed, equipment, etc. each will furnish.

Risk from price drop in what you sell. 3. Risk of price rise in what you buy for production. 4. Risks from changes in technology - obsolescence in equipment, etc.

2. HOW WILL IT affect my control over the enterprise to be covered by the agreement?
